Welcome to Summer Camp at the Suffolk County Farm and Education Center!

Summer Camp at the Farm inspires K-6 youth to engage in activities related to agriculture, animal science, nutrition, healthy living, and life skills on a 150 year old working farm. Rooted in the 4-H Positive Youth Development framework, our programs are designed to foster self-esteem, cooperation and respect. Our diverse staff of Cornell Cooperative Extension educators lead campers in using their Hands to groom farm animals, their Heads to solve science problems, and their Hearts to make lasting friendships. Together, campers develop essential Health and self-care skills through gardening, and physical recreation. Our campers enjoy fresh-air wagon rides, cooling off in sprinklers, learning how food grows, and caring for and handling animals. We use all the Farm has to offer including the Butterfly House, Backyard Farm, Nature Explore Classroom, Historic Almshouse Haybarn, and livestock pastures.

Our Mission:

The Suffolk County Farm and Education Center's mission is to provide hands-on research-based learning to all residents with themes in agriculture, animal sciences, history, STEM, healthy living, and life skills in a unique year-round learning environment and in community spaces. The Farm's vision is to connect with our agricultural heritage and to pave the way for a bright, healthy, and sustainable future.

If you report directly to their camp building, the camp counselor will ask that you bring your child to the Welcome Center in order to follow the safety protocol.

What do I do if I'm picking up early?

Please report to the Welcome Center and we will call your child to come down. You will wait in the office and a farm staff member will bring your child to you to be signed out. ## Preparing for Camp Information

How to Help Your Child Mentally Prepare for Camp

It's not unusual for kids (and parents) to feel some "jitters" before a Day Camp experience.

Here are some strategies to help:

- Communicate with your child that camp will be a fun and interesting place to be. Review the activities that are planned and help him or her visualize what the experience will be like. Share information about all the wonderful opportunities at the farm ("wait 'til you see those pigs") and, if possible, visit the farm so your child can become familiar with the buildings, animal areas, and other facilities.
- If you are feeling anxious, your child will undoubtedly "pick up your vibes". Learn all you can about this carefully planned camp experience (i.e. medical care, program activities, and supervision) in order to feel positive and secure about your child's participation.

- Get up a little earlier than usual the first morning of camp in order to have a leisurely breakfast and “packing up for the day” time with your child. A “stress-less” exit from home will help you both feel less anxious about saying goodbye for the day at camp.
- A little note in a pocket, a picture of a pet in a backpack, a funny drawing in a lunch box, are a few ways to assure your child of your love when they are away for the day at the farm.
- Clearly mark all of your child’s gear that is going to camp with their full name – have them help with this activity if possible. They will feel more secure knowing that they have everything they might need, and anything that is accidentally misplaced can be returned, thus avoiding upset feelings.
- Express your understanding and appreciation of how it feels to have distress about separation. Talk through these feelings without criticizing or belittling them (“oh don’t be silly”). Reassure them that many kids feel the same way about new experiences.

If your child expresses concerns about their experience during camp:

- Really listen, without reacting, to what your child is saying. Ask questions, in a neutral tone, to try to get as much information as possible about what is happening, and how your child feels about it. If you feel that your child can take action to solve the problem, discuss strategies with them that might be useful in the situation. If you feel that adult intervention is called for, ask your child for any ideas that they have that you can share with the Camp Director when you speak with them.
- Our staff wants every child’s camp experience to be a positive and enriching one. Please do not hesitate to bring your child’s or your own concerns to our attention immediately. Every possible effort will be made to resolve situations to your and your child’s satisfaction. Tell us in person or email the camp director directly at bn224@cornell.edu.

Camper Supervision

Who is watching my camper?

We feel confident that we have the best staff around! Our staff is as diverse as our campers. The majority of our staff are college students. 100% of our lead staff members are at least 19 years old. Many members of our staff are enrolled in teaching credential programs and a considerable amount are previous campers! All staff, not just camp staff, are background checked and cleared before they begin work. Camp staff are trained in CPR and first aid. We make sure your child will be safe in the event of an emergency. Most importantly, our staff are people who love kids. They want to spend their summer playing, teaching, and working with children. They are good people with good hearts who are dedicated to 4-H's pursuit of positive youth development.

What training does the camp staff receive?

All camp staff is required to attend a four-day training prior to the first day of Summer Camp. Our training covers a great deal. The staff learn about the policies and procedures of Summer Camp, safety protocols, characteristics of children, leadership, how to teach activities and how to impart 4-H's positive youth development values.

How many staff will be watching my camper?

We operate on the following ratios, which are based on the requirements of the Department of Health.

Passive activities with campers 6-years and older ratio: 1:12

Active activities with campers 6-years and older ratio: 1:8

Activities with campers less than 6-years-old ratio: 1:6

Emergency Care:

In the event your camper becomes ill or injured while attending day camp, staff will take the following actions:

1. The parent will be contacted to come and pick up the camper. If the parent(s)/guardian(s) cannot be reached, the emergency contact(s) will be called. There must be someone available within 30 minutes to pick up a sick or injured camper.
2. Basic first aid will be applied to minor injuries, and the parent will be contacted if necessary.
3. For more serious injuries, the staff will call the local paramedics. A staff member will always remain with the camper. Parents will be contacted immediately.

Note: Be sure we have at least two updated emergency contact phone numbers on file.

Behavior

Campers are expected to always exhibit appropriate behavior. Summer Camp at the Suffolk County Farm and Education Center is a 4-H Camp. Campers are required to follow their agreement of the NYS 4-H Code of Conduct.

Camp Code of Conduct

Our first priority is to create a safe, inclusive space for learning, sharing, and collaboration welcoming to people from diverse backgrounds, cultures and perspectives. All 4-H Participants—youth, families, and our camp staff—in or attending any activity or event sponsored by Cornell University's Cornell Cooperative Extension (CCE) 4-H Youth Development Program are required to uphold the values of the NYS 4-H program and conduct themselves according to these standards. The standards also apply to online activity, including social media internet presence.

Don't wear revealing clothing, such as short skirts or shorts, midriff-baring tops, and sagging pants.

Consequences

Any of the following may be used, depending on severity of the situation:

1. Camper will receive a verbal warning.
2. Camper may remain at camp but may possibly be barred from certain activities or attending camp in the future.
3. After consultation with the parent(s)/guardian(s), Camp Director, and Farm Administrator the camper may be asked to leave camp.

Medical Information and Communication

Prescription Medication

Immunizations

Campers are required to be fully vaccinated prior to their first day of camp. This means all immunizations required by schools. The COVID-19 vaccine is not required for campers at this time. You must submit your camper's immunization record along with your registration information for review and for camp records. Only medical exemptions are accepted. If a camper is medically exempt, they must provide a doctor's note to the camp at the time of registration.

Reporting Communicable Disease

Campers diagnosed with a communicable disease, infection, rash, or head lice must present a doctor's release before returning to camp. For the safety and well-being of participants, staff and our animals, parents/guardians must notify the Suffolk County Farm and Education Center at 631-852-4600 of the situation at the time of diagnosis. Camp group participants will be notified (subject's name will not be disclosed) of the situation so that appropriate precautions may be taken.

Other Communication

If a camper is injured while at camp, the Camp Health Director will see to their injuries and call parents after. If camper is involved in a separate issue (behavioral, etc.) then the Camp Director will either email or call the parents or guardians. It is important to answer your phone during camp hours so we can have the best possible open communication. We want all campers to have a fun, safe summer. Being able to communicate is key.

Please feel free to contact the Welcome Center between 9am-3pm with any concerns, suggestions, or comments regarding the program. Parent and camper input is always welcome.
